Equipment need an overhaul?

Hire one of our technical engineers to visit your site.

Have the experience and knowledge of one of our technical engineers on site - to assist with all your radio needs.

Whether you want them to look at equipment that isn't working, or carry out general tests and checks across your site, our engineers are there to do whatever you require to ensure your equipment works, including:

- Service of equipment
- General repairs and replacement of parts
- Testing of radios and batteries
- Site coverage checks
- User training for any of your radios
- Anything else you require help with

Keep all your equipment - we'll come to you

Rather than sending all your equipment to us to be serviced, and being without your radios, all of your equipment can stay on site whilst we complete our tests and checks.*

* Some equipment may still need to be taken off site to be repaired.
