To maintain the lifespan of your radio it is important to regularly have your radios serviced. We offer a transparent service and repair for your radios, all for a fixed cost.

Free Assessment

Once we receive your radios, they will be processed by our Service Department, which will aim to assess them within five working days. After the assessment, you'll receive a quotation detailing any required work and the associated costs.

Health Check

£30

If your radios just needs servicing:

Your radios will go through our 10 Point Service - they will be checked for physical damage, ensuring they power on and the audio quality will be tested. The accessory socket, battery, and antenna are all checked, and the radio is cleaned, labeled, and programmed with the correct frequencies.

If your radio requires a more indepth repair:

You will only pay for your radios relevant fixed price repair cost.

This price is charged per radio and includes labour, any spare parts and your return delivery. (Excludes new batteries, antennas - some models housings will also have an extra charge).

If however your radio cannot be fixed in house, we will arrange for it to be sent back to the manufacturer and will inform you of the costs involved on your quotation.
